August 19, 2009

Los Angeles based cardiothoracic surgeon and international medical expert in lipid management, Michael F. Richman M.D., F.A.C.S. has been added as a senior advisor to a United States Congressional advisory committee on health care reform.

Los Angeles, CA - Over 100 practicing physicians and surgeons throughout the US have been asked to join The Physicians' Council for Responsible Reform with hopes to consult House Republican Leader John Boehner (R-OH), Congressman Eric Cantor (R-VA) and others during their deliberations of the Obama Administration's efforts to reform health care.

Congressman Tom Price (R-GA), a former orthopedic surgeon, comprised a list of "100 Concerned Physicians" who he believes will have a crucial impact on health care reform.

Says Dr. Richman, "I'm honored to be a part of The Physician's Council for Responsible Reform. Lawmakers are not receiving enough input from practicing doctors, and this is our chance to make significant impact in the possible health care reform that will affect millions of people in the US and abroad."

Michael Richman, MD, FACS, FCCP is a Los Angeles based heart surgeon, lipid specialist and venous disease expert is a vocal patient advocate and has been featured on several radio and television talk shows. He is a regular guest on The Dennis Prager show, an internationally syndicated daily radio program. He has also been featured on ABC-7 Prime Time News and on KOGO San Diego with talk show host, Roger Hedgecock.
